COUNTY AGENTS' COLUMN

Economist Sums Up

Dr. O. E. Baker, economist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, told the recent Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky that there are five reasons why he wants his son to be a farmer.

A farmer has more and better food than most people who live in cities, he said.

He has better health and lives longer.

He accumulates more property—becomes a wealthier man.

He is more likely to enjoy his work than are most city people.

He is more likely to rear a family and do his part to promote the future welfare of the nation and of the world.

Concerning the future of agriculture, Dr. Baker said:

Agriculture will survive. Good land will continue to pay better than poor land.

A good farmer on good land is likely to make a better living than he would make in a city.

Locate, if possible, on good land. Have enough land, even if it is necessary to rent.

Be careful about going into debt, and be cautious about making investments, particularly in anything which you do not know the value by personal experience.

Kentucky Farm Radio Program

The College of Agriculture will broadcast the following farm radio program from the University of Kentucky extension studios of WHAS the week of February 27. Each program will begin at 12:45, central standard time.

Feb. 27.—House cleaning the hog lot, Grady Sellards. Beef cattle demonstrations, Warland Rhoades.

Feb. 28.—Which way with the sow and pigs? Grady Sellards. Practical brooding management, J. E. Humphrey.

Mar. 1.—Ways of cutting machinery costs, G. B. Byers. New credit for Kentucky farmers, C. J. Bradley.

Mar. 2.—Timely chats with fruit growers, C. O. Eddy. Home fruit garden, C. S. Waltman.

Mar. 3.—What farm folks are asking, L. C. Brewer.

Low Production Costs

Conservative action, economical production, elimination of unprofitable livestock, growing of legumes, grasses or forest crops on otherwise unprofitable acreages, and securing the family living from the farm, are suggested in the annual agricultural outlook report of the College of Agriculture, University.

Farmers are advised to continue their present lines of production, but strive to produce at lower costs. Expansion in acreages is deemed unwise. Poor land should be turned to grass, legumes or trees, and only the best land planted to crops, with attention to better quality products. It is pointed out that high quality lambs, tobacco, strawberries and other products continue to command premium prices. The elimination of low producing livestock, as well as of this land, is suggested. Dairy farmers will be able to make money only by milking good cows fed on homegrown feeds. The same course of action will be necessary for poultry farmers and other livestock producers.

With an abundance of labor at low wages, it is suggested that some farmers could grow tobacco cheaper with hired help than by the usual tenant system.

New or additional debts at this time are considered unwise, unless necessary to improve income from investments already made. Machinery should be repaired, instead of buying new, and buildings maintained but not rebuilt.

The report states that "Food, fuel and shelter supplied by the farm for the farm family have probably never had as much significance for agricultural well-being as at the present time. With disastrous declines in the value of farm products when exchanged for commodities and services that farmers buy, the supplying of the farm family with these products of the farm is the farmer's most effective answer to the failure of freight rates, processing costs and marketing charges to decline as fast as the prices of farm products."

The outlook for tobacco is probably less favorable than for the season just closing. Acreages may be increased, while consumption has been declining. Farmers are urged to reduce costs, set only the best land, and strive to produce high quality leaf.

The lamb outlook is considered reasonably favorable, especially where the quality of seed is good. In beef cattle raising, the tendency is toward the production of baby beefs, which have been returning profits. Corn fed to hogs will probably return more than when sold for cash.

Poultry farmers may expect continued low prices, and will make money only by culling out the poor layers, and by the use of homegrown feeds and efficient methods generally.

Strawberry growers, due to increased acreage, will probably face competition, and should market good berries well packed.

Favorable points in the report include the fact that commodities which farmers buy now are 12 percent lower in price than they were a year ago; that there is greater hope in business; that steps have been taken to remove the causes of depression; that there is less need for farm operating credit, and that high quality farm products are selling for a premium.

Insko Club Organized

Thirteen boys and girls of Adele community were present February 14, at their club organization meeting. Mr. Logan Arnett was selected as leader. This club is starting with a small enrollment, but the members and the leader are determined to have one of the best clubs in the county.

Maytown Club Organized

The county agent with the help of the citizens of Maytown community, organized a 4-H Club, February 14, 1933. Mr. Hayden Lykins was selected as club leader, Susan Walsh as secretary and Clarice Lykins as president. Many of the citizens agreed to take an active part in conducting club activities. Twenty-five members were present at the organization meeting. The next meeting takes place March 10th. Fourteen of the members of this club agreed to raise 1/4 acre of tobacco, each, and according to information furnished by the Kentucky Experiment Station, other club members will take the canning and poultry projects. Everything indicates that this is going to be one of the outstanding 4-H Clubs of the county. Naturally they are going to try to win the County Championship Banner, and many prizes at fairs and shows during the fall of 1933.

Livestock Loan Inspector

We have been notified that "The Committee of the Louisville branch of the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of Columbus, Ohio, has selected Mr. Sam D. Cecil, Hazel Green, Ky., subject to the approval of the board at Washington, to be an Inspector. It will be his duty, when requested, to report to the Louisville office on loan applications referred to him."

Federal Crop Loans

We understand that federal seed loans will be available to farmers as in 1932. Many men are coming in to make application for these loans, but as yet, no application blanks or instructions have been mailed the county agent. When they are mailed, notice will be given in this paper.

Clear Streams

Reports received at the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, indicate that much bottom land, especially in eastern counties, can be rehabilitated by the clearing of brush, trees and other growth from streams. Sometimes it is also necessary to widen and straighten creeks.

During 1932, 37 farmers in Knox county cleared 11 miles of creek banks of brush, overhanging trees and dams, without cash outlay. In three communities in Clay county, five miles of stream channel were improved in a similar way.

In Knox county, clover demonstrations on drained land produced nearly two tons of hay to the acre, and corn averaged 46 bushels to the acre. Much of this land had previously been too wet for cultivated crops.

SALESMEN WANTED—No layoffs, wage cuts or hard times for Heberling Dealers. We offer steady year around employment—sell direct to farm trade full line home remedies and household products. Many make $40.00 weekly or more. Write quickly. G. C. HEBERLING COMPANY, Dept. 966, Bloomington, Ill.

Taxpayer Wants Information

Editor of Licking Valley Courier:

As a taxpayer, I would like to know how much this county owes and how much it costs to run the county a year, and I think all other taxpayers would like to know.

Why is it so hard to get this information when it is the duty of someone to have it and give it to the taxpayers?

Will someone who knows tell us if the following gleaned information of our indebtedness and what we pay our officers is correct, and if not, where is it wrong?

Indebtedness, judgment $78,000
Warrants, unpaid $90,000
Bonds 155,000
Total indebtedness 323,000

Paid County Officers

County Judge $2400
County Attorney 1200
County Engineer 800
(Not including gasoline)
County Jailor 500
County Treasurer 250
County Agent 800
(Plus office rent, $120)
County Librarian 240
County Health Doctor 1000
(Plus office rent, $180)
County Clerk 800
County Superintendent 2000
Assistant Supt. 1200
TOTAL SALARIES $11,190
Fuel, lights, and poor farm expenses are not known, therefore not included.

Interest at 6 percent each year on what we owe ($323,000) is $19,380. To this add $11,190, amount paid to officers, and you have $30,570. The amount of taxes collected last year was around $22,000. Now deduct $22,000, the amount of taxes collected, from $30,570, what we pay out, and you will see it cost the taxpayers $8,570 more than the amount of taxes collected.

In plain words, Morgan county has gone $8,570 in the hole in one year, if the above figures are correct. I will venture to say they are much too low. How are we to pay out?

Last year in collecting $22,000 in taxes, over 200 homes and farms were sold. How many more will have to go before we pay the $323,000 we owe? It must be paid, we owe it and it should be. We will gain nothing by trying to lay this mistake on the dead or the living. If we were to benefit from our lesson it should be in choosing our officers and in working together in trying to save as many of our homes as possible and pay our debts.

I hope our good friend Attorney Arnett can show the fiscal court some way whereby they can lower our taxes. If the above figures are anywhere near correct how can they? If our indebtedness is $323,000, one year's interest at 6 percent will be $19,380. Deduct this from $22,000 taxes collected and you will have left $2,620 to pay all officers and running expenses, which expenses are shown to be $11,190. It can't be done. You could say to this, as an attorney and banker, that any night when your bank is closed your books show just how the bank stands, and that they have been elected to pay out the taxpayers' money and that it is their duty to make an order having the books audited and show everything they have spent that money for, to whom, and when. They have their legal advisor, the county attorney, and yet it hasn't been done.

Many people believe the county owes between $400,000 and a half million dollars. It is time to show up and play ball. The taxpayers know how to ask the courts to get this information, and unless it is forthcoming they will act, in my guess.

TAXPAYER

WANTS SALARIES LOWERED

Judge C. P. Henry, and Members of the Morgan Fiscal Court, West Liberty, Kentucky.

Gentlemen: The General Assembly of Kentucky at its 1932 session amended sect. 1072 of Carroll's Kentucky Statutes 1930 edition providing that the salaries of the County Judge, Clerk of the Fiscal Court and County Attorney shall be fixed by the Fiscal Court on or before the 1st Monday in May of the year in which they are to be elected, which salary shall be paid monthly, and I am sure that you are all acquainted with this section of the Kentucky Statutes as provided by this amended act in chapter 131 on page 365 of Kentucky Statutes.

In view of the fact that the county officers salaries have been raised out of proportion to the amount of work required, and there being many able men that are willing to accept these offices at normal salaries or salaries in keeping with the work required, you should at once meet and fix the salaries so that the candidates and people may know what they are to pay their officers for the next four years.

As you will recall, I was a candidate for County Attorney four years ago when the salary was $300 and if I had been returned the winner I would not have accepted the $1200 that was assessed by your old court. The race for County Judge was made when the salary was $1000 and the old court raised it to $2400. I am a believer that we should not ask for office and then have the salary raised after the election is over.

Now you will possibly say that this is none of my business but I am a citizen and taxpayer of Morgan county, and in this capacity I ask you to take this action, and I know that with your good judgment, that you are men that wish to do the thing that the people want, and will not mind my calling your attention to this statute.

Very truly yours,
Lynn B. Wells, Indianapolis, Ind.

GET BUSY!

I noticed a statement in the Licking Valley Courier where the editor has provided a free column in his paper so the tax payers and voters of the county can write articles in regard to the county financial condition subject of taxation and the selection of the proper kind of officers who will be able to put our county on a business foundation. It will require a very careful selection of officers to bring this about.

I would like to see a short article every week from tax payers from all the magisterial districts, in our county paper until the August primary. This goes to prove that our editor is in sympathy with the poor overburdened tax payer, by giving his energy and furnishing this space free in his paper.

Every tax payer and voter should appreciate what our editor is undertaking to do, and should cooperate with him by sending in at least six months subscription to the Licking Valley Courier. This will help us to better prepare ourselves to cast an intelligent vote in the next primary. For God's sake voters, wake up one time. Get busy and not be voted, but vote for the man that will not be afraid to show the records of our county, and publish them so we can see and know where we are, and how we stand financially. A TAXPAYER

DENNY SMITH

This newspaper has always been a great admirer of Denny Smith, Hopkinsville, on of the most able and intelligent legislators in the last session of the Kentucky General Assembly. For that reason we note with considerable regret his decision not to become a candidate for re-election. In two sessions which he served Mr. Smith says he did no good. He gave as the reason for lack of accomplishment the people's inertia and that they had not become sufficiently conscious of conditions to demand proper legislation.

Men of the high calibre of Mr. Smith are needed in the general assembly, but like him, they too often see the futility of going against the powerful political interests that have ruled Frankfort and the state of Kentucky for years. Every move that a well-intentioned legislator makes is thwarted. He soo finds himself leading a lost cause and rather than subsidize his character and principle, quits. This leaves the way open for those interested to hand pick a man who will do their bidding.

Mr. Smith thinks the people want better legislation, but not bad enough. The main trouble with the people is they think of legislation during the session of the general assembly. The politician thinks of it one, two, three years in advance and selects his man to put it over.

Unless all signs fail, we predict, when the legislature meets a year hence, there will be delegations of all sorts going to Frankfort, to remedy something they should have attended to at the polls.

The Democrat hopes, with others concerned in the welfare of the state, that Mr. Smith will reconsider and lead one more fight for better government. If he, and others of his type, abandons public office, there is a sorry looking picture on the wall for Kentucky.—Cynthia Democrat.

If You Get Up Nights

Make this 25c Test

Physic the bladder as you would the bowels. Drive out impurities and excessive acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Get a 25c test box of BU-KETS, the bladder physic, from any drug store. After four days if you are not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. BU-KETS, containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc, acts pleasantly and effectively on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache, or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Arnett Drug Company says BU-KETS is a best seller.

ROSE HOME BURNS

Just as we go to press Wednesday afternoon, the news comes from Pomp of a serious loss from fire.

Mrs. Charley Rose and her girl were in the back yard washing when a neighbor, Mrs. J. W. Johnson, called to them about 2:30 P. M. that the house was on fire. They ran in and found the front rooms all ablaze. They could not fight the fire, but went to work. They pulled out two trunks and a few small things. They saved no furniture and nothing from the food cellar.

When the neighbors reached the scene everything was in flames and nothing could be rescued. However, the men saved the smokehouse and contents.

Mr. Rose's home was a good seven room bungalow. There was no fire in the front rooms, but there was a double chimney and a fire in the next room. Mr. Rose carried $600 insurance.

Dr. Murray took Mr. Rose to Lexington yesterday morning for a physical examination, as he has had such a bad cough since recovering from pneumonia a few weeks ago. They expected to get back by night. The oldest child, Darrel, goes to school in town, riding from home. Just before starting home he heard the sad news.

The entire community sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Rose in the loss of their home.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute, 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.
